Prom Fever Hits Puma Campus

$2000 in Prizes Will Be Given To Architects

A nation-wide competition among members of the American Institute of Architects for the outstanding small mission church design will terminate May 18 at St. Joseph's, the Rev. Alfred Zanolar, college president, has announced.

The contest was launched earlier this year as a service to Catholic builders. It is being conducted by the National Catholic Building Convention and Exposition, which St. Joseph's will again sponsor June 14-15-16 at the Stevens Hotel Chicago.

Father Zanolar said the designs, all aiming at a practical, small church to cost around $20,000, have been submitted by practicing architects, draftsmen and students of architecture.

Three Prizes

Two thousand dollars in prize money has been posted by the convention organization, of which Father Zanolar is president. Author of the winning small-church design will receive $1,000; second prize is $300, third is $200 and three honorable mentions will get $100 each.

One of the jury which will view the designs at St. Joseph's May 18 must be a member of the A.I.A. in good standing; one will be a Catholic priest experienced in building and planning, and at least one other judge will be present. Names of judges will be released May 18. Results of the contest will be announced June 16, the last day of the convention in Chicago.

"Our Small Mission Church Design Competition is expected to bring the best architectural, economic and structural knowledge to builders of small churches at a figure no greater than cost of plans," Father Zanolar asserted. "Work of the Catholic Church in establishing small mission parishes in remote areas should continue on an even more extensive basis," St. Joseph's president said. "Unfortunately, the need for economy in the past has often meant eliminating the architect's and other important services."

Simplicity Preferred

Contest rules indicated that since small, mission churches are usually built in smaller towns, the most simple and convenient methods will be given preference. "Since color in itself is not costly," Father Zanolar said, "we have encouraged its use in the contest." Towers and other extraneous architectural "ginger bread" will probably be missing from the winning design, which will have more of an eye toward function and economy.

Prom Queen!

Sure, 'tis "Luck o' the Irish;" Marian O'Keefe Takes Contest

BY BUD CLARK

Miss Marian O'Keefe must have been blessed with the "Luck o' the Irish" to go along with her beauty, for the 19-year-old lass was chosen by popular student vote as St. Joseph's Prom Queen of 1949 and will be crowned Saturday night in the Fieldhouse.

Miss O'Keefe will be escorted by Ron Miniat, 20-year-old Junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Miniat of 8100 S. Campbell, Chicago. Marian was chosen Queen from among nine finalists' pictures subject to voting in which 63% of the student body participated.

Marian stands five-feet four-inches tall, and has dark hair and blue eyes to match a wonderful personality. Miss O'Keefe has done some modeling but is presently employed as secretary at the Silver Cup Co. of Chicago.

White Sox Fan

Marian graduated from Aquinas High School in 1947 and resides with her parents and two sisters, Dorothy and Eleanor, at 7037 S. Park St. Living on the south-side of the Windy City, Marian naturally has been raised to root for the White Sox, her favorite baseball team. Other than baseball, Marian's top sports hobby is swimming.

When it comes to dancing, she casts a vote for the O'Henry Ballroom as her favorite rug-cutting lair. She also states that Perry Como is the best male vocalist in the world of popular music, and that Fred Waring rates her No. 1 band choice.

Television A Must

Not that Marian is a rabid television fan, but when queried as to what she thought of video she emphatically stated that "any woman getting married ought to demand a television set in place of the usual ring."

The other eight finalists will compose the Queen's Court. They are: Miss Kathleen Lynch, escorted by Ken Weibel; Miss Margaret Clements, escorted by Walter Moore; Miss Delores Bell, escorted by James Causland; Miss Caryl Cummings, escorted by James Mangan; Miss Norma Krause, escorted by Al Miesch; Miss Betty Logan, escorted by Charles Greif; Mrs. Marjorie Nicholas, escorted by her husband, Vestal; and Miss Dorothy Watters, escorted by Amellio Amoroso.

The ceremonies of the crowning of the queen will take place immediately before the Grand March.

Chicago Club Dance Will Be Held June 10

The Chicago Club will hold its annual Spring Dance, June 10, at the Terrace Casino of the Morrison Hotel in Chicago, it was announced by Club President Ed Nowak. Music will be furnished by Jim Barclay and his orchestra.

Official Notice

All sophomores will take the General Culture Test which will be given on May 12th and May 19th at 7:30 p.m. in the dining room.

All sophomores must attend both sessions.

300 Couples Expected to Attend Year's Best, Biggest Affair

Prom fever is hitting the campus, and if you haven't got it by now, you're a square from way back! The 1949 Junior Prom, featuring the music of Buddy Di Vito, the Crowning of the Queen, and the Grand March, will take place this Saturday night in the fieldhouse from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m.

Packed Houses Highly Acclaim 'Borrowed Time'

BY DAVE COADY

The Columbian Players delighted near-capacity houses April 30 and May 1, with their presentation of On Borrowed Time, a three-act fantasy. The play was the best of the year, and received more acclaim than any other given in the College Theatre for quite some time.

Under the able direction of Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli, drama and English instructor at St. Joseph's, members of the local thespian society gave spectators something to talk about. Feminine leads were carried by actresses from the Theatre Guild of St. Xavier College of Chicago.

Play Goers Impressed

Crowds of students, faculty, and guests here for Parents' Day, went away from the performance much impressed by the exceptional playing of "Gramps" by Mr. Cappuccilli. Little Richie Scharf gave a sterling portrayal of the young boy "Pud", and Howie Cummings presented his role of death in the personage of "Mr. Brink" with a ghost-like quality that would be difficult to excel.

The supporting cast ably backed up the leads. Vivian Groll well interpreted her part as the old-maid aunt, Demetria Riffle. Ave Hayes played the part of the kind old Granny (Nellie), and Sue Loch portrayed the young house-servant Marcia.

Skeptical Doctor

The campus is going "tux happy" as the formal affairs are being rolled from the mothballs. A complete "about-face" is being performed here this week as the campus intellectuals drop their books for flower orders, hotel arrangements, room cleaning, and inspection of formal attire.

Reservations Filled

An estimated crowd of 300 couples is expected to attend the biggest social function of the year. Reservations at both downtown hotels, The Hoosier Inn and Hotel Rensselaer, are filled to capacity. Besides this, Al Murphy has had his hands full obtaining extra living quarters in the town of Rensselaer.

Don Ronan, chairman of the event, announced that tickets for the Prom are on sale in the refectory during the evening meal hour, or may be purchased at any time from Chester Kusek, Ron Miniat, or Larry Link. They will be available also at the fieldhouse, Saturday night.

Use Entire Floor

Landon "Jay" Myers, Ray Biler, and Frank Santschi have charge of decorating the fieldhouse, and the committee reports that the place will be the picture of sheer breath-taking beauty when Di Vito gives the down-beat. However, any help available will be appreciated by the committee as it puts the finishing touches to the gym. The entire floor space will be used this year.

Charlie Hanley has taken care of all tuxedo arrangements, and Ray Patterson, Emil Michon, and Keller Riede are in charge of the cloak room.

For Services Rendered

The recent Science Day and Parents' Day proved to be a highly entertaining, successful undertaking. It was an excellent example of the benefits to be obtained from extra-curricular activities.

Faculty and students are to be congratulated for the various fine programs and displays which interested visiting parents and all other spectators. Three clubs, Albertus Magnus, Columbian Players, and Farley Stamp Club, deserve special awards for making the day a memorable one.

In the presentation of such a program, much work is necessary. Long preparation and study went into the lectures of the students on duty at the different exhibits. The displays were considerably strengthened by the presence of students who were able to explain just how this piece of equipment functions, where this insect makes its home, how demonstration slides are made, or why electricity behaves as it does. The wealth and variety of knowledge available at St. Joe was noticed by many visitors, and they saw only Science department exhibits.

A finishing touch to a pleasurable day was added by the Columbian Players. Their presentation of "On Borrowed Time" was rated in local news reports as being easily the best given here since the last war.

There is not a much better example of what extra-curricular activity can accomplish. The clubs, the coordination of study and play, along with the practical experience and friendships gained, give one a more rounded personality and wider point of view. Here too, one is not merely working for himself for the future, he is enjoying also companionship at the present and helping others to enjoy themselves. More need not be said.

Spur O' the Moment

BY RALPH L. CLARK JR.

OF THIS AND THAT

The production of the play On Borrowed Time, by the Columbian Players, was a huge success during its two-night stand in the College Theatre, April 30, and May 1. The cast and stage crew put in a tremendous amount of work, and it paid off on the nights it was presented.

It was one of the few times in two years that the auditorium was filled to near-capacity on successive nights. Much of this success in drawing close to 1,000 play-goers must go to Frank Pavalko who served as head of publicity for the play. The Art Club kept the campus filled with posters and displays, while Frank went so far as to drop 25,000 leaflets from an airplane over the town of Rensselaer.

The set was the most elaborate ever seen on the Collegeville stage, and the acting of young "Richie" Scharf, Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli, and Howie Cummings was of the superior variety.

It's going to be mighty hard to knuckle-down to that study stretch as the end of the semester rolls around—at least the sights on the campus last week would make one think so. The sun beat down and the temperature soared into the high 80's for the first time this year. Student accoutrements were rapidly discarded in favor of shorts, tennis shoes, and swimming trunks—in fact, the campus looked more like a summer resort than an institution of higher learning.

The inauguration of Daylight Saving Time on the campus hasn't helped study habits any. Instead of hitting the books the campus Weismuellers are hitting the lake. Which only goes to prove one thing—Tarzan didn't study. But on the other hand, Einstein can't swing through the trees like a monkey either. So it all goes to prove that we've proved nothing, which is really proving something after all.

How to Write Term Papers, In One Lesson

BY UTAH CUMMINGS

Every year at about this time, the students and inmates of the various institutes of higher learning find themselves faced with the greatest catastrophe in their young lives. They have a term-paper to hand in by a certain deadline. This column is dedicated to those unfortunates, with a view to making their life more pleasant by helping them with this problem.

The first thing, of course, in constructing one of these massive compilations of words that no one is interested in, anyway, is the choice of a topic. This always comes after a general survey of the situation, in which one calls down the wrath of Juno and Jupiter on all term papers in general, the originator of the term paper, the particular professor who assigned this term-paper, and your roommate, because he used your best argyle socks and wore a hole in them.

Cover Topic Completely

In choosing a topic, remember always to take one that is not too broad, so as to be sure to cover it completely. Some learned men in the field, Professor J. J. Heinrich Straub, for instance, claim, "The narrower the topic, the better the paper!" Therefore, always choose a particular topic. Take one, for instance, like "Snail Reproduction in the Adirondacks."

Then, after the topic has been selected, go to the library and get all the books you possibly can on Adirondack snails. Unfortunately, you will find a remarkable absence of literature on the topic. As a matter of fact, there is only one book in existence on snails, written by a certain Professor Straub.

Now Broaden It

So, you must broaden your topic. Naturally, the only thing left is either "Reproduction" or "Adirondacks". Although "Reproduction" does look like a broad enough topic, "Adirondacks" promises to be much more interesting, so choose that.

Then run right over to the library once more for books on Adirondacks. The first thing to do is ask the librarian where the "A" stack is located. Librarians always have a lot of time on their hands, anyway, so he won't mind telling you.

Timing A Must

After finding the stack, take about 18 or 20 books out to bring back to your room. Be sure to time cross streets in a town of 2,000 population. First floor area may not exceed 3,000 square feet. There must also be a vestibule or small narthex, a seating capacity of 200, a sanctuary with one altar, a combination priest's and altar boys' sacristy, a confessional and a baptistry.

There will be a one-room efficiency combination living quarters and office for the missionary priest, with provisions for shower, toilet, pullman kitchen and storage closet. Heating plant and fuel bins will be in the full basement, where future development of a parish social hall will be possible.

Will Exhibit Drawings

Outstanding drawings from the competition will be put on exhibit for the benefit of priests, sisters and other Catholic administrators at the Second National Convention and Exposition this June. Plans for making winning drawings available to Catholic builders will be announced later, Father Zanolari said.

The first convention and exposition, held in Chicago last year, was widely hailed as a welcomed service to Catholic builders by more than 2,500 delegates. St. Joseph's again will stage the convention and exposition at the request of His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, and other members of the United States hierarchy.

GAG BUSTERS

BY BEECH

Investigation has revealed a heart-rending story behind the disappearance of celery, carrots, and milk from the "chow" hall. It has also revealed a human interest angle. While not a "tear-jerker" of "nickelodian" proportions. It is still enough to cause a lump in the throat of the student body.

Andy Gallagher, the scourge of the W. and R., has been foster-mothering two baby rabbits. Andy can be seen any evening between 6:00 and 7:00 p.m. feeding milk to the bunnies with an eye-dropper . . . "Blue-eyes" benign attitude changed to one of disgust, however, when the larger of the two literally tried to "bite the hand that fed them" . . . It would seem there is no justice. Here it is almost time for term papers to be written, and there is Andrew, with one of his two typing fingers out of commission.

Will wonders never cease? . . . Donald "high-ya" Dippel had two dates during the Easter vacation. Records show this to be two more than "Dip" has had in the last three years. What does Billie have that Hazel lacks?

Beware of our local constabulary . . . Cliff Beaver, Pumas hard-charging half-back, was confronted with a blackjack in the nervous hand of a policeman after the recent sports banquet. Cliff on the way home was stopped and questioned for loitering. After convincing this pseudo-detective that the only thing he was guilty of was an over-stuffed stomach, he was allowed to proceed with the remark he would be remembered as a suspicious character . . . This is a very unusual occurrence at the present time. There hasn't been a "who donnit" at the Ritz in weeks.

How much will $27.00 buy at Dan Webber's? This question may never be answered, because the funds are now financing a binge pitched by one of Chicago's nefarious characters . . . Dan "take my rubies and take my pearls" Webber reached for the clouds during Easter, when a hold-up man prodded him with a gun in the loop district.

Any one interested in playing "Twenty Questions" can do so any night after the lights are out in Room 313, Drexel. "Colonel" Smith and Jim Dolan have been conducting the program . . . The best question sent in proved to be animal in the form of Mr. Soto, el prefecto of the third floor . . . "What are all you men doing in this room?" he said. For stumping the experts all residence in the vicinity who were trying to get some sleep should express their sincere appreciation.

Ron Miniatt, pinch-hitting for cupid, made a blind date for Ray Patterson on their visit to the city . . . Unfortunately one item was overlooked. They forgot their portable shutter. For the uninitiated, a portable shutter is a handy little substitute for the fireman's lift, when one of the party becomes inebriated.

Ron Humphrey, the poor man's Barney Oldfield, finally came to his "come-uppance" over the last Easter vacation. It seems that Ron was passing through a small town between Detroit and Collegeville without noticing that his shiny Dodge was travelling at a rate faster than that prescribed by the local gendarmes. A short neighborly chat with one of said officers showed that a few other misdemeanors were being committed too. It took the cop twenty minutes to write them all down on the ticket.

More Sage Advice . . . All men must bear in mind that if their prom date's formal has a bustle, it is only a deceitful seat.

your exit to coincide with your prof's entrance, so he will see you carrying this tremendous load of books and think you are working hard.

Then you are faced with an alternative, sometimes known as a dilemma. You can prepare for an all-night session of reading, to get yourself ready for writing the paper, or you can take one of the books down to the local pub, copy out all of the introduction and preface, and use the others to make a convincing bibliography.

Being an upright, honest, young American with high ideals, of course, you have only one choice. Read them all!

Beating Deadline

Since time is now short, get a few candles from the local dime store, black out your windows, and settle yourself for a long summer evening. Read all of the books, take prolific notes, and write up a term paper that might get a "D" if you are lucky, because you didn't have time to present the facts in an orderly manner.

Or if you wish to do it the way lots of others do, find a man who took the course last year and got a "B" on his paper, copy his paper word for word, and spend your spare time doing something cultural, like lying under the sun by the fishpond.

Taylor Tripped By Pumas 10-4; Second Victory

Visiting Taylor University offered only minor resistance, April 29, as the St. Joe nine easily racked up its second victory of the season, 10-4, in a loosely played contest. Tom Lynch and Pete Perlongo collaborated to limit Taylor to eight scattered hits. Perlongo, who hurled the last five innings and gave one run and five safeties, was credited with the decision. Lynch was touched for three hits during the first four rounds. Lack of control on the part of the lanky righthander allowed the visitors to score three times in the fourth.

Many Errors

Twelve miscues were committed during the afternoon, seven by Taylor, which aided the Pumas in tallying four runs in the first and two each in the second, fifth, and eighth stanzas. The locals chased starting pitcher Frase in the fifth inning after the wild southpaw had given up eight runs and a like number of hits. His replacement, Johnson, was nicked for the final two counters.

The 10 St. Joe bingles were distributed evenly. Only Mike Beaven with a brace of singles collected more than one. McElwee and Mathiasen each cracked out two hits for Taylor.

Grid Captain

He'll Lead Pumas...

Al Miesch, Hammond junior, was voted by teammates to the captaincy of the 1949 Puma football team at a meeting of team members and coaches Tuesday, April 26. The election took place before the annual spring sports banquet, and Coach Dick Scharf announced the result when monograms and awards were distributed to attending athletes.

An outstanding guard on the Puma grid squad, Miesch succeeds John Lucas who graduates in June. The new captain-elect stands five-foot eight inches and weighs 165 pounds. He came to St. Joseph's after graduating from Noll Central High School in Hammond.

Two Big Innings Give S. J. 10-9 Win Over BSTC

A sparkling relief job by Don Tesmond enabled St. Joe to whip the Ball State Cardinals 10-9 in a three-hour tussle at Muncie, May 3. The stocky Chicago port-sider turned in a masterful performance as he blanked the Cards with three hits in four and one-third innings after Pete Perlongo's debut as a starting pitcher had been ruined by a State rally which erased a seemingly secure 10-2 Puma lead.

Two big innings insured St. Joe its third straight triumph. Some robust slugging in the second and third frames, coupled with the generosity of two host hurlers, accounted for 10 markers. Four in the second and six in the third were, enough to counter-balance a pair which the Cardinals had pushed home in their initial time at bat, one in the third, and six in the fourth.

Twirlers Duel

From the fifth on Tesmond and Streelman were locked in a tight twirling feud. The St. Joe lefty had the edge, however. His curve ball was working to perfection and his side-arm crossfire delivery proved unsolvable for the Ball.

Chicago U. Grabs Second Triumph

Chicago University scored nine times in the seventh and eighth innings, April 23, in Chicago to turn back Coach Dick Scharf's Pumas for the second time this season, 10-8. The loss was the fourth in four games for the St. Joe combine whose hurlers, Don Tesmond, Bob Beeching, and Tom Lynch, ran afoul of some lusty Maroon batwork in the seventh and eighth frames after the home club had been effectively subdued for six stanzas.

The St. Joe coaches had reason to be pleased, however, over one aspect of the contest. Although the mound corps was treated rather roughly, the Puma stick-men began showing signs of emerging from a slump which had shackled them thus far. The visitors procured nine well-smacked base knocks, with veteran slugger Cy Bohney contributing three of them.

Borowitz Winner

Borowitz got credit for the Chicago win, although he was rather shaky during his two inning chore. He was rocked for five hits and got out of serious trouble in the ninth by fanning Clarence

Speaks at Banquet

The Audience was delighted...

Pumas Crack Ice With Wabash Win

The Puma baseballers had to strike from behind to do it, but after four unsuccessful attempts, finally secured their first win of the campaign, an 8-7 edging of Wabash College, April 27, on the local diamond. The contest, played in chilling temperature, saw the Pumas spot their opponents a 7-3 lead before a four-run sixth frame and one eighth turned the battle in favor of the Cardinal and Purple.

Cy Bohney, the squad's jack of all trades, making his first pitching start since losing to Purdue on opening day, chalked up the win, despite the fact that the Cavemen reached him for 10 hits and five walks. Nevertheless, Bohney, who has played three positions well during his three seasons with the team, exhibited plenty of stuff and would have escaped in better style had he not been plagued by three errors and occasional loss of accuracy. He walked five men and fanned eight with his fast ball and sharp-breaking curve.

Paste Two Pitchers

The St. Joe hitting continued on the upswing as the Scharfmen pasted Wabash starter, Harry Kern, and his successor, Dan Ferber, for 12 safeties. Wally Moore slashed out three hits and Angel Barrientos, Tom Quinn, and Bohney each chipped in with a pair. Only one of the blows was for extra bases, but it was an important one. Mike Beaven hammered a two-ply clout in the big sixth.

Losing twirler was the Wabash ace, Dan Ferber, who replaced starter Kern in the sixth after Beaven's double. Kern yielded 10 hits and two free tickets during his stint, and his support was mediocre. Ferber, who had previously limited Purdue to a half a dozen blows in bowing 5-3, was

Elects Chuck Barton

Charles Barton, Marion, Ind., junior, was elected president of the Monogram Club at a meeting held Thursday, May 5. Don Dippel, Evansville junior, and Don Quinn, East Chicago junior, were chosen for the office of secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Announcement of the election results was made public Monday evening, May 9, at the Club's annual banquet held at the Sportsman Restaurant, Monticello. Barton is a member of the varsity basketball quintet and both Dippel and Quinn have won monograms on the gridiron.

Sycamore Hurler Blanks St. Joe With No-Hitter

Wabash Smashes Pumas' 3-Game Win Streak 5-3

The St. Joe diamond squad reached the mid-way point in its 15-game schedule recently sporting a not-too-respectable three won-six lost mark. The locals approached the half way mark riding a three-game winning streak, but successive setbacks by Wabash and Indiana State put an end to that.

After bowing to Wabash and Dan Ferber 5-3, May 4, at Crawfordsville, the Pumas ran into a no-hit, no-run game tossed at them by Darrel Wible of Indiana State, May 6, in the Three I League park at Terre Haute. Behind Wible's no-hit hurling the Sycamores hopped on Don Tesmond and Chuck Gorman for 13 hits and a 6-0 triumph.

Gain Revenge

The Wabash Cavemen gained revenge for a beating administered them earlier in the season by the Collegeville crew. They got only five safeties off the slants of Cy Bohney and Chuck Gorman, but these were sufficiently bunched to produce the victory. Dan Ferber, ace Wabash righthander, went the distance and was tagged for seven hits. He was extremely tough with men on the bases. Clarence Kuhn and Tom Quinn each obtained two blows for the losers. Jerry Leahy cracked his first homer of the campaign in the ninth, when a Puma rally fell two runs shy.

State's Wible faced only 29 men

Netters Seeking Initial Victory

St. Joseph's netters travel to Valparaiso this afternoon with hopes of chalking up their initial win of the season. They dropped their first three starts to Louisville 7-2 on April 30, Wabash 5-2 on May 4, and Indiana State 5-2 on May 6.

The Louisville match saw Joe Hawkins victorious in singles and a team composed of Hawkins and Ed Pluth win the doubles. Hawkins repeated his singles win in the Wabash meet and then again paired with Pluth to capture the doubles. In the Indiana State meet, both Hawkins and Joe Hempling scored in winning singles matches; the doubles team suffered its first loss.

S. J. Golfers Beat Ind. State 10-8

Puma golfers captured their first win of the current season defeating Indiana State 10-8 in a close match on the Curtis Creek links. They had previously dropped two matches to Wabash 20½-½ and 18-3.

Low scorer of the day was St. Joe's Tom McMerney who went the eighteen holes in 75. Indiana State's Criss followed closely with a 76. First round of the match wound up with the Cardinal and Purple one point in the lead. At the end of the second nine holes, the locals had doubled their one point lead with McMerney and Bill Miller undershooting their opponents. Criss' 36-stroke par shooting was the afternoon's best for nine holes.

The Puma Grows...

BY TOM FEDEWA

A MAN CAME TO DINNER...

THERE was a banquet... and there was the customary after-dinner speaker... After filling up on fried chicken everyone settled comfortably in his chair and prepared himself for the usual "blah-blah" that tradition has ruled to follow all banquets... But, surprisingly, no one was bored, no one fell asleep or even dozed... This was something out of the ordinary... A Mr. William Fox, sports editor of the Indianapolis News, took the floor and proceeded to capture every attentive ear... His speech touched on almost every topic imaginable, from horse racing to philosophy and culminated into an interesting sports theme.

AND there was the ingenious "Lefty" Clark, the Rensselaer Republican's gossip columnist... "Lefty" said he came unprepared to speak, but wound his tongue around a cut of tobacco and had everyone in stitches with his witticisms.

THERE were also athletes... some 60 or 70 who had gathered in the college refectory to climax a year of competition on the gridiron, hardwood, and baseball diamond... They came to receive medals, monograms, sweaters, and recognition for their prowess in athletics throughout the year... Such was the 1949 edition of the annual spring sports banquet... They're still talking about it.

SPORTSGLANCING...

MORE people and things seen on campus... Sure signs of spring: activity on the faculty croquet court on the powerhouse lawn... perspiring students taking time out for a dip in the campus lake... Tom Tysall looking like a boiled lobster after eighteen holes at Curtis Creek... Bob Stevenson skillfully hurling a no-hit, no-run game in intramural softball competition... Bob Ryan allowing no hits, but one run... Tom Owens, Charley Jonaitas and Charley Roglin going back to nature with a hike to the gravel pits... John O'Brien twinkle-toeing over to the tennis courts in white trunks and Keds... Spider McDevitt, Lynx Quinn, Art Brophy, and Jocko Sullivan cooling off from the hot intramural softball pace at Jona's Gym... Al Miesch pondering over reasons for his high golf score... Bob Beeching quietly leaving town so no one could check his... Greg Presnail (Master of the Courts) explaining his tennis game in six syllable words to roommate Bob Weissling... Steve Vincent, Bob Eder, Bob Hummel, Bill Fox surrounded by the opposition as they vociferously rooted the Pumas to a win over Ball State... Parents' Day, Science Exhibits Attended by Over 500 Guests

BY DON DE LAVE

St. Joseph's College was a scene of excitement and activity on Sunday, May 1, as the campus celebrated its annual Parents' Day. An estimated number of over 500 parents, relatives, and friends attended.

The Student Council, along with other student organizations, contributed to the success of the day by sponsoring various projects of interest for the parents.

Corsages for Mothers

Besides distributing a helpful program and map folio to the parents, the Student Council established an information booth on the main driveway leading to the campus, and issued identification cards so that the parents could meet other parents and the faculty more easily. The Chicago Club added to the occasion by distributing free corsages to the mothers.

Science Exhibited

The Albertus Magnus Society sponsored science exhibits in Science Hall from 1:00 to 6:00 p.m. Included in their program were Geology, Physics, Math, Biology, and Chemistry lectures and experiments. The parents greeted the demonstrations of the Science Department with enthusiasm.

Another highlight of the day was presented by the Columbian Players, the campus dramatic group, in their production of On Borrowed Time. Though the play was presented on Saturday and Sunday evenings, a large group of parents attended both performances.

"Faclex" Revealed

The Farley Stamp Club presented a very unusual exhibit of stamps, cards, and coins in the library reading room. The student body discovered that the "Faclex" signs that had been bombarding the campus for several days preceding actually meant "Farley Stamp Club Exhibition."

At two o'clock in the afternoon several short talks were given by members of the faculty to the parents in the College Theatre. The visitors were welcomed and encouraged to become more integral parts of the college community by more frequent visits to the campus.

Litany and Benediction in the College Chapel at four o'clock ended the day for most of the visitors.

in hanging up his white-wash conquest. Four men reached base, but were wiped out by two Sycamore double plays. The righthander walked two and fanned none. There were only two balls hit which resembled safe blows. In the third frame Jim Dolan topped a slow roller down the third base line. Pitcher Wible fielded the ball, but his throw pulled first baseman Reschan off the base just as Dolan arrived. Wible was given an error on the play. Tom Quinn slugged a line drive some 300 feet to left field in the sixth, but left-fielder Payne made a very nice over the shoulder catch. Other than these two plays, Wible encountered no difficulty.

Triduum Honors Blessed Virgin

A May Triduum in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary was held on the evenings of May 2, 3, 4, in the College Chapel. Sponsored by the Sanguinist Club, the Triduum consisted of Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, special prayers and hymns in honor of the Blessed Mother, and public recitation of the Rosary.

Through the post office, each St. Joe student was provided with a Mother's Day card, offering the Triduum prayers, along with his assistance at Mass and reception of Holy Communion on Mother's Day, for his mother's intention. The cards and flowers adorning the Blessed Virgin's altar during the Triduum, were provided by the students.

State port swingers. He whiffed five and gave three passes in chalking up his first win of the campaign.

Hank Zawaki, who was stuck with the loss, gave six runs and six hits in two frames. He struck out two and walked three. Bob Streelman worked seven innings, yielding four runs on four hits. He was extremely stingy after the third, doling out only two blows the rest of the way. He fanned five and walked two.

Ohio Doctor Winner Of Freshman Raffle

Before the May 1 presentation of the play On Borrowed Time, Dr. G. J. Krupp, prominent Lorain, Ohio physician was picked winner of the freshman-sponsored scholarship raffle. The prize, a $50 gift certificate redeemable in the college bookstore, was presented to Dr. Krupp. The winning ticket seller was freshman Neil Krupp, Dr. Krupp's son.

Judges at the drawing included John Metzner, John Ewry, and Bud Cannonito, Freshman Class President. The winning ticket was drawn by 8-year-old Pat Dougherty of Rensselaer.

The scholarship fund, which was the object of the raffle, has been given a start, and a competitive examination to determine scholarship winners will be held later in the spring.

Kuhn with the tying runs on second and third.

The defeat went to Beeching. He allowed four hits and was unfortunate enough to be on the hill during the Maroon rally in the eighth inning. Tesmond, who gave only four safeties during the first six rounds, was belted for another four in two-thirds of the seventh. Lynch, the third twirler, allowed one hit.
